Cross-Border Payment Requirement

Intermediary banks are often used when a payment is made in a currency that is different from the local currency. When making a payment through an intermediary bank, their SWIFT BIC must be included.

Key Terms

International Bank Account Number (IBAN)

The International Bank Account Number, IBAN, is an internationally agreed standard to identify an individual's account at a financial institution. IBANs should be included for all SEPA payments. SWIFT maintains an IBAN registry (<https://www.swift.com/swift-resource/9606/download>) that provides details on the IBAN structure. The structure consists of a two-letter ISO country code, followed by two check digits and up to 30 alphanumeric characters for the Basic Bank Account Number (BBAN).

Routing Codes

Some countries require the inclusion of national routing codes to facilitate routing within the country's payment systems. Examples of countries with routing codes are Australia and Canada.

SWIFT BIC

SWIFT BIC is a bank identifier code for members of the SWIFT network. Please note: If a branch BIC is not known, the full name and address should be used.

EU Transfer of Funds Regulation Summary

Regulation (EU) 2023/1113, adopted on May 31, 2023, by the European Parliament and the Council, focuses on enhancing transparency and security in financial transactions involving funds and certain crypto-assets. This regulation mandates that detailed information must accompany transfers of funds and crypto-assets to ensure traceability and compliance with anti-money laundering (AML) and counter-terrorism financing (CTF) measures. It amends Directive (EU) 2015/849, which is part of the EU's broader framework to combat financial crimes. The regulation applies to transactions within the European Economic Area (EEA) and aims to align with international standards, ensuring that financial institutions and crypto-asset service providers collect and share necessary information about the originators and beneficiaries of transactions.

Canada

CAD – Canadian Dollar

Overview

Information provided by the Beneficiary: Remitter should obtain all required bank information from the Beneficiary (e.g. Canadian bank branch routing number, SWIFT BIC code and beneficiary bank address). Absence of this information may result in delays or returns.

Central Bank: For additional information, please refer to www.bankofcanada.ca.

Country Requirements/Restrictions

Currency and Clearing Information: Canada has well-developed high-value and low-value electronic payment systems.

Account Restrictions: Residents and non-residents can hold both domestic and foreign currency accounts. Most Canadian banks offer accounts in USD.

Canada's "Proceeds of Crime (Money Laundering) and Terrorist Financing Act" and related regulations impose an obligation on all Canadian financial institutions, including J.P. Morgan, to obtain certain information for wire payments transmitted in a SWIFT 103/103+ format and SWIFT MT101s that result in the SWIFT MT103 format. In order to comply with these regulatory requirements, J.P. Morgan will require complete order party/beneficiary information to be included in any wire payments that are sent or received through your accounts with us in Canada.

Complete order party/beneficiary information includes: full account name, full account number, full beneficiary bank name, the SWIFT BIC code, and full physical address information. A full physical address must include: street number, street name, city or town, state or province where applicable, and country, preferably in the 2-character ISO format.

In circumstances where a street number is not assigned to a physical location, a description of the location, such as a building and street name, may be acceptable. A P.O. Box is not acceptable without a full physical address. State or province is also required for all U.S. and Canada addresses and for other countries, where applicable. Some Canadian banks also require the Canadian Clearing Code to avoid delays in processing.

The ideal size of the mandatory fields for ordering party/beneficiary full account name is 35 characters. For the mandatory ordering party/beneficiary address, full physical address components should fit into the rest of the 3 lines with 35 characters in each line. Where the beneficiary name exceeds one line, the full beneficiary name and full address should fit in 4 lines. The address information should not overflow into other fields to avoid delays or rejection.

Canada

Continued

Financial institutions may reject or delay your wires if the required information is not provided or address information does not include a full physical address in the mandatory fields.

Payment Formatting Rules for CAD

Ordering/Originating Customer: For MT103 wire payments debiting a non-FCB<sup>1</sup> client account, the JPMorgan wire engine will enhance the account name and address from account records. For all other MT103/MT101 formatted wire transactions in and out of Canada, including those paid through an intermediary bank, include account number, full name (no initials), and full physical address of the ordering customer. Use of initials can delay receipt of funds by the beneficiary.

Beneficiary: For all transactions in and out of Canada, including those paid through an intermediary bank, include account number, full name (no initials), full physical address, including two character ISO Country Code of the beneficiary customer. Use of initials may delay receipt of funds by the beneficiary or transaction will be rejected. When paying CAD to a beneficiary who holds an account with Royal Bank of Canada or the Bank of Nova Scotia, the account number should be 12 digits.

Beneficiary Bank: It is mandatory by JPMorgan that the bank's SWIFT BIC is provided, and, where applicable, the Canadian Clearing Code is provided for CAD payments and receipts. If the SWIFT BIC is not provided and/or there is an incorrect Clearing Code, the wire payments and receipts may fall into repair or be rejected. It is recommended by Payments Canada that the Canadian Clearing Code or routing code be used for payments denominated in CAD. The 9-digit routing number is made up of the Direct Payment Routing Number (4 digits) and the Branch Transit Number (5 digits). The structure is //CC followed by nine digits. Example: //CC123412345. Where applicable, the beneficiary bank transit number identifies which internal branch account the main bank should direct the funds to. SWIFT BIC is 8 or 11 alphanumeric characters: xxxxCAxx or xxxxCAXxxxx.

Wire receipts for credit to a Canadian corporate account need to be received by JPMorgan Toronto in the swift MT103 format due to Canadian regulatory reporting obligations. If they are received in the MT202 format for credit to a corporate-owned account, the wire receipt in the MT202 format will be rejected and will have to be resent by the counterparty in the SWIFT MT103 format.

Hong Kong is by far the largest renminbi off-shore market due to its early participation in the renminbi international trade settlement scheme and the development of a domestic RMB clearing system (CHATS) where the Bank of China (Hong Kong) is the settlement institution.

Payment Restrictions: Since the liberalization of the currency, the renminbi can be used globally as a trade settlement currency in off-shore jurisdictions (outside mainland China).

Central Bank: For additional information, please refer to www.boj.or.jp/en.

Country Requirements/Restrictions

Currency & Clearing Information: In Japan, there are two cash clearing systems for Japanese Yen payments. One is Zengin and the other is FXYCS. Each clearing system has different rules and message format guidelines.

Zengin is a clearing system for domestic yen payments among Japanese residents.

FXYCS is used for international, cross-border yen payments for both Japanese residents and non-residents.

Maximum payment amount between residents through local clearing system, Zengin, is JPY 9,999,999,999. Amounts exceeding this limit need to be split into multiple transactions.

Payment Restrictions: JPY is a freely traded currency both on-shore and offshore.

JPY payments must be entered in whole amounts with no decimal to avoid rejection.

Resident companies must report details of all non-trade related transfers in excess of JPY 30,000,000 or the FX equivalent.

For outgoing Zengin payments, the debit account with JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., Tokyo Branch must be a resident account. For incoming Zengin payments, the credit account with JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., Tokyo Branch must be a resident account.

For outward payments from Japan, payers and payees are required to confirm their cross-border payments are not related to Japan sanctions against North Korea, Iran, Russia and the Republic of Belarus. Please input the code word “NNKNI” in your respective payment instructions to declare that your payment is not associated with the sanctions and is not a payment on behalf of a third party unless approved by JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., Tokyo Branch. Without this declaration, payments may be delayed or cancelled.

Account Restrictions: JPY accounts and foreign currency accounts can be opened by resident and non-residents.

Additional Documentation: For over-the-counter money transfers over JPY 100,000, Act on Prevention of Transfer of Criminal Proceeds requires banks to confirm the customer’s name, address, and birthday with a government-issued ID. If the customer is an account holder, confirmation is not required as the same process is required to open an account. If problems are encountered, have the beneficiary’s name, account number, and telephone number available.
